Composition and Elocution through all the Courses.

When circumstances permit, a German Class will be maintained through the Winter and Spring Terms.

Calendar.

The year, in all Departments of the Institution, will be divided into three terms, beginning on the first Wednesdays of September, December and March, and will close at Commencement, on the first Wednesday in June. There will be a vacation of one week during Christmas Holidays.

Tuition, Etc.

In the University Course the tuition is $45 per year, and in the Academy $30 per year, payable per term in advance.

The Library fee for students and graduates using the Library is $1 per year; for those not connected with the school, $5 per year.

Board in families can be had at from $3 to $4 per week, including furnished room, fire and lights.

Instruction in Instrumental and Vocal Music may be had from teachers approved by the faculty.

A Primary Department will be conducted, under the direction of the faculty, by Mr. Wm. F. Marsh. Tuition, $5 per term, in advance.

Rules and Regulations.

Candidates for admission to any department of the Institution must give satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

A Primary Course of Reading through the Fourth Reader, Spelling, Arithmetic through Fractions and Compound Numbers, Elementary Geography, together with Printing, Writing and Drawing upon Slate or Blackboard, must have been pursued before entering the Academy.

For admission to the Ladies' Course, or to the Scientific Course, the applicant must be at least fifteen years of age, and will be examined upon the Latin Reader and Grammar, and the First Book of Cæsar's Gallic Wars, or an equivalent, Mental and Practical Arithmetic, Reading and Spelling, Penmanship, English Grammar, Geography, History of U. S., Elementary Algebra, complete.

For admission to the Classical Course, in addition to the above requirements, the applicant will be examined upon portions of Cæsar, Cicero and Virgil, the Greek Grammar and Reader, English Composition, and outlines of Universal History.

For admission to Advanced Standing, an examination will be required in the studies already passed over by the Class the student wishes to enter, or their equivalents, and the corresponding advancement in age.

Examinations for admission will be held on the first Wednesday of September, at 9 o'clock A.M., at the College.

Those wishing to receive the degree of A. M. in Course, will be required to furnish evidence to the Trustees of their continued interest and progress in professional or literary pursuits, by presenting either a written thesis or a public oration at or before their receiving the degree, the subject of the same to be presented to the President at the time of applying for the degree.

All students are subject to such rules and regulations as the Faculty shall from time to time establish. The following are, however,

Standing Rules.

(A.) The general rules of good manners and good morals are to be regarded.

(B.) No student is to leave town without permission, or travel on the Sabbath, or use liquor or profane language.

(C.) All students are to go regularly to some place of worship every Sabbath morning.

(D.) Study hours, excepting Saturday and Sunday, will be from 8 to 12 A.M., from 1 to 3 P.M., and from 7 to 9 P.M. During May, and on Saturday throughout the year, from 8 to 9 P.M.

(E.) A record of attendance and progress in study will be kept, and a report sent to the parents or guardians at the close of each term.

(F.) The selection of boarding houses is subject to the regulations of the Faculty.

(G.) All students, on entering or leaving the school, are required to report to the presiding officer of their department.

Remarks.

Measures are in progress for securing a President to supply the place of the late Dr. Marsh, and in the meantime all the regular classes will be provided for.

The rules governing the conduct of students will be as few as possible, and only such as from time to time seem necessary for their good. A high standard of character and scholarship will be insisted upon. Thorough examinations will be held at the conclusion of each study and each year, and at the end of any course students will be liable to be examined on any previous study, on six months' notice by the Faculty.

The Institution is under the control or supervision of no denomination. It aims to give not sectarian, but thorough Christian instruction and training.

The full Classical Course is in substance the same as that pursued in Eastern colleges, and covers four years; while for such as as desire a shorter course, the Scientific and Ladies' Courses are open, covering three years.

There are two Literary Societies, one of gentlemen and one of ladies.

The Institution is accessible by the Oregon Central Railroad.

The location is beautiful and salubrious. Saloons are excluded by provisions in the deeds which give title to the lands.

The apparatus and the collection in the Department of Natural History are now considerable, and are increasing.

The Library numbers above five thousand volumes, and is open to students and others.

A partial list of text-books is as follows: Spelling—Webster; Arithmetic—Robinson's Practical, Stoddard's Intellectual; Olney's Complete Algebra, Olney's University Algebra; Loomis' Geometry and Conic Sections; Olney's Trigonometry; Brown's Institutes of English Grammar; Bryant and Stratton's Book-keeping; Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar; Harkness' Introductory Greek, Crosby's Compendious Greek Grammar; Fiske's Manual of Classical Literaure; Perry's Political Economy; Hepburn's Rhetoric; Anderson's General History; Story on the Constitution; Olmsted's College Philosophy and Astronomy.

Rules and Regulations.

Candidates for admission to any department of the Institution must give satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

A Primary Course of Reading through the Fourth Reader, Spelling, Arithmetic through Fractions and Compound Numbers, Elementary Geography, together with Printing, Writing and Drawing upon Slate or Blackboard, must have been pursued before entering the Academy.

For admission to the Ladies' Course, or to the Scientific Course, the applicant must be at least fifteen years of age, and will be examined upon the Latin Reader and Grammar, and the First Book of Cæsar's Gallic Wars, or an equivalent, Mental and Practical Arithmetic, Reading and Spelling, Penmanship, English Grammar, Geography, History of U. S., Elementary Algebra, complete.

For admission to the Classical Course, in addition to the above requirements, the applicant will be examined upon portions of Cæsar, Cicero and Virgil, the Greek Grammar and Reader, English Composition, and outlines of Universal History.

For admission to Advanced Standing, an examination will be required in the studies already passed over by the class which the student wishes to enter, or their equivalents, and the corresponding advancement in age.

Examinations for admission will be held on the first Wednesday of September, at 9 o'clock A. M., at the College.

Those wishing to receive the degree of A. M. in Course, will be required to furnish evidence to the Trustees of their continued interest and progress in professional or literary pursuits, by presenting either a written thesis or a public oration at or before their receiving the degree, the subject of the same to be presented to the President at the time of applying for the degree.

All students are subject to such rules and regulations as the Faculty shall from time to time establish. The following are, however,

Standing Rules.

(A.) The general rules of good manners and good morals are to be regarded.

(B.) No student is to leave town without permission, or travel on the Sabbath, or use liquor or profane language.

(C.) All students are to go regularly to some place of worship every Sabbath morning.

(D.) Study hours, excepting Saturday and Sunday, will be from 8 to 12 A. M., from 1 to 3 P. M., and from 7 to 9 P. M. During May, and on Saturday throughout the year, from 8 to 9 P. M.

(E.) A record of attendance and progress in study will be kept, and a report sent to the parents or guardians at the close of each term.

(F.) The selection of boarding houses is subject to the regulations of the Faculty.

(G.) All students, on entering or leaving the school, are required to report to the presiding officer of their department.

Remarks.

Rev. Dr. Herrick, in assuming the Presidency of the institution, adds a teacher of wide and varied experience to its corps of instructors, and will in large degree determine and define to the public its Christian position and purpose. He is expected here in October.

The rules governing the conduct of students will be as few as possible, and only such as from time to time seem necessary for their good. A high standard of character and scholarship will be insisted upon. Thorough examinations will be held at the conclusion of each study and each year, and at the end of any course students will be liable to be examined on any previous study, on six months' notice by the Faculty.

The Institution is under the control or supervision of no denomination. It aims to give not sectarian, but thorough Christian instruction and training.

The full Classical Course is in substance the same as that pursued in Eastern colleges, and covers four years ; while for such as desire a shorter course, the Scientific and Ladies' Courses are open, covering three years.

There are two Literary Societies, one of gentlemen and one of ladies.

The Institution is accessible by the Western Oregon Railroad.

The location is beautiful and salubrious. Saloons are excluded by provisions in the deeds which give title to the lands.

The apparatus and the collection in the Department of Natural History are now considerable, and are increasing.

The Library numbers above five thousand volumes, and is open to students and others.

A partial list of text-books is as follows : Arithmetic—Robinson's Practical, Stoddard's Intellectual ; Olney's Complete Algebra, Olney's University Algebra ; Loomis' Geometry and Conic Sections ; Olney's Trigonometry ; Brown's Institutes of English Grammar ; Bryant and Stratton's Bookkeeping ; Andrew's and Stoddard's Latin Grammar ; Harkness' Introductory Greek, Crosby's Compendious Greek Grammar ; Fiske's Manual of Classical Literature ; Perry's Political Economy ; Thalheimer's General History ; Story on the Constitution ; Olmsted's College Philosophy; Olmsted's Astronomy.

CALENDAR.

The year, in all departments of the Institution, will be divided into three terms, beginning on the first Wednesdays of September, December, and March, and will close at Commencement, on the first Wednesday in June. There will be a vacation of one week during Christmas Holidays, also of two or three days about April 1st.

TUITION, ETC.

Tuition is payable per term, in advance, to Mr. A. Hinman, local treasurer.

In the Academy, per term,	$10.00
In the University Courses, per term,	15.00

A library fee is also required of each student of twenty-five cents per term, payable with the tuition. The library contains over 5,000 volumes, and now has a substantial fund for its increase; it is open in term time every Wednesday at noon.

Elementary instruction in vocal music will be provided without extra charge. Other instruction in instrumental and vocal music can be had in the place, of competent and approved teachers.

Military drill and instruction under the Professor of Military Science and Tactics will be provided for those who desire them.

It is very desirable that pupils be present, if possible, at the beginning of the school year and through it, that they may receive the full benefit of regular classes and of the prescribed courses.

Board, in families, can be had at from $3 to $4.50 per week, including furnished room, fire and light.

Rules and Regulations.

Candidates for admission to any department of the Institution must give satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

Regular courses have been adopted preparatory to the different college courses, which have also received some changes. Attention is called to these on preceding pages.

Before entering these academic courses in full standing, a pupil must have learned Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic through fractions and compound numbers, and something of English Grammar and Descriptive Geography.

Applicants for college must be at least fifteen years of age, and must pass examinations in the studies of the corresponding preparatory course, or their equivalent.

For admission to Advance Standing, there will be required an examination in the studies already passed over by the class which the student wishes to enter, or their equivalents, and the corresponding advancement in age.

Examinations for admission will be held on the first Wednesday of September, at 9 o'clock a. m., at the College.

Those wishing to receive the degree of A. M. in course, will be required to furnish evidence to the Trustees of their continued interest and progress in professional or literary pursuits, by presenting either a written thesis or a public oration at or before receiving the degree, the subject of the same to be presented to the President at the time of applying for the degree.

We aim at a high standard of character and scholarship. Rules are to aid in attaining this, for which teachers and scholars are to work together.

Students are presumed by their presence to profess regard for the general rules of good manners and good morals; especially regularity and orderly conduct, faithfulness in study, respect for authority and thorough honesty. All students are, moreover, subject to any special regulations made by the faculty. The following are

Standing Rules.

(A.) No student is to leave town without permission, travel on the Sabbath or use liquor or profane language.

(B.) No student is to attend a dancing party during term time.

(C.) All students are to go regularly to some place of worship every Sabbath morning.

(D.) Study hours, except Saturday and Sunday, are from 8 to 12 a. m., from 1 to 3 p. m., and from 7 to 9 p. m. during May, and on Saturday throughout the year, from 8 to 9 p. m. During these hours and after 9 p. m., students are to be at their rooms or at school, unless specially excused.

(E.) Examinations will be held at the close of each study, of the year, and sometimes of the course, at which all members of the respective classes are expected to be present. All recitations and examinations are marked on a scale of 10. An average not less than 6 is required before leaving a study, (in spelling 8.5). A record of attendance and progress is kept and reports are sent each term to parents, guardians or adult pupils.

(F.) In selecting or changing boarding places, students must consult the presiding officer of their department, and young ladies boarding themselves must be under the supervision of the lady of the house where they room.

(G.) All students on entering and leaving the school, are required to report to the presiding officer of their department.

Remarks.

The Institution is under the control or supervision of no denomination. It aims to give not sectarian, but thorough Christian, instruction and training.

The full Classical Course is in substance the same as that pursued in Eastern colleges, and covers four years; while for such as desire a shorter course, the Scientific and Ladies' Courses are open, covering three years.

There are two Literary Societies, the Gamma Sigma of gentlemen, and the Philomathean of ladies.

The Institution is accessible by the Oregon & California Railroad, West Side Division.

The location is beautiful and salubrious. Saloons are excluded by provisions in the deeds which give title to the lands.

It will be noticed, in reference to the list of students, that the school has drawn to its vicinity many families for the purpose of education.

The apparatus and the collection in the Department of Natural History are now considerable, and are increasing. Botanical and geological contributions solicited.

A partial list of text-books is as follows: Arithmetic—Robinson's Practical, Stoddard's Intellectual; Olney's complete Algebra; Olney's University Algebra; Olney's Trigonometry; Brown's Institutes of English Grammar; Bryant and Stratton's Book-keeping; Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar; Harkness' Introductory Greek; Crosby's Compendious Greek Grammar; Fiske's Manual of Classical Literature; Perry's Political Economy; Thalheimer's General History; Story on the Constitution; Olmstead's College Philosophy; Olmstead's Astronomy; Loomis' Physiology.
